

RE: PUBLIC

What We Are and What We're Not...

A pink circular logo with the text "RE: PUBLIC" in white, stacked vertically.

This flexible, multi-purpose rental space is a unique concept in Indianapolis and is intended to be a creative space, however, it's important to know what it is not:

- The space was created for artists.
From its inception, this space was meant to be a place that showcased and supported the artist community. This space is intended to be a place for creatives to showcase their work, perform, collaborate, heal and more!
- We're not staffed like a more traditional venue.
Our concept is like an Airbnb, but for venues. When you use the space, you're the host, the greeter, the bouncer, and the janitor.
- We're not a venue for parties.
While we want to celebrate creatives in our community, the venue is not meant for parties (birthdays, weddings, anniversaries, graduations). Album or book releases are a different kind of party and those are a yes!
- Re:Public has gallery walls, but is not a traditional gallery.
We are open to hosting both established artists and artists who want to have their very first show. We do not jury the artists that use the space. We don't take commission. We don't curate shows. That's where you come in...
- We're not a concert venue.
Re:Public is in the heart of a neighborhood and we want to be good neighbors. Music performances are ok as long as the sound is not amplified.
- We're not a studio or rehearsal space.
We understand creatives may need a change of scenery to get a recharge. Working or creating in the space is perfectly fine, but we are not a short-term or long-term studio solution or rehearsal space. To ensure the space is accessible, only five (5) consecutive rental days will be allowed.
- We're not promoters.
Getting the word out about your event or program is your responsibility. However, if 10 East Arts is supplied with great images and compelling copy, we'll do our best to help spread the word about your event or program. The Inspire 10th Street page has a solid Facebook following, so we'll share the love there and on our website, 10eastarts.org. When you share your event/pop-up/performance/show on social media, tag #Re:Public and #10EastArts on Instagram, Facebook and Twitter and we'll do our best to share the social love. To be included on our website or on social, send the following at least seven (7) days prior to your event:
  - Text-free JPEG image that will look good on the events page of the 10 East Arts website. The size is 1300 pixels wide x 465 pixels high, 144 DPI.
  - A short paragraph describing your event - make sure to include any links to your website, too. Information needed includes date, start time, end time and fee/ticket link (if any).
